January 2019 Meeting

Please join us on January 8th for our meeting at 6:30 P.M. at the St. Leonard's School Library where we will be pleased to host 3rd year Doctor of Audiology Students from the University of Louisville.

They will be presenting on these hot research topics of great interest to people with hearing loss: Hair Cell Regeneration, Mild Gain Hearing Aids for Self-Reported Hearing Loss, Cochlear Implants, Tinnitus Management and Rechargeable Hearing Aid Technology. Rebecca Smith, Brooke Dillard, Caitlin Holliday and Rebecca Vajda gave excellent summaries at a meeting in Bardstown at the KY Home Chapter last summer and they are going to share their expertise with us so that we can understand a bit more about what is coming up on the horizon. This will be an excellent opportunity to pose your burning general hearing health questions as well. Come learn with us!

The Doctor of Audiology degree program is a four-year post-bachelor's degree program designed to provide students with the academic and clinical background necessary to enter audiologic practice. The Au.D. program at the University of Louisville draws on the clinical activities of the Louisville Medical Center to provide an exciting educational experience in a dynamic medical environment. The program is physically located at the University of Louisville Health Sciences Campus and administratively located in the Department of Otolaryngology - Head and Neck Surgery & Communicative Disorders..
